

DISCUSS IT:

Serving Others

Serving others is a skill that begins at home. You can learn to serve by serving the family first. A great way to teach your kids to serve your family is by having them help with chores. Having your kids keep track of their chores also teaches them independence and responsibility. Go download the iMOM Chore Chart and discuss ways to serve. See the list below for ideas. See how you can serve your child and how they can serve you!

Chore ideas for serving Mom:

Make my bed	Clean my room	Pick up toys
Clear the table	Wash the dishes	Dry the dishes
Clean kitchen counters	Unload dishwasher	Sort the laundry
Put away clean clothes	Fold towels	Feed the pets
Wash the dog	Weed the yard	Water the plants
Take out the trash	Vacuum	Dust
Mop the floor	Put away groceries	Set the table
Vacuum the car	Clean the baseboards	Wash the car

Serving others is love in action!

For Moms:

- Circle the top chore ideas you need help with from the list above.

For Kids:

- Look over the chore ideas your mom circled and think about how you can best serve her.
- Discuss with your mom which chore ideas you should do.
- Fill out the chore chart and make a commitment to complete the chores on the chart each week.
